Women and War Work-News of the Social World

Trees.

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray.
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.
—Joyce Kilmer, "Trees and Other Poems."

The women of Overlook drive, who form a working unit of the Red Cross, have just completed and returned to Red Cross headquarters 14 sweaters. Mrs. Sarah Smith of Nashville, Tenn., with her sister, Mrs. Quick, was a guest during the summer and early fall in the home of her nephew, Mr. Edwin Quick, built four sweaters during her stay in Tulsa, which were turned in and credited to the local Red Cross. Mrs. Smith, in spite of her 82 years of age, has made 14 of these garments for men in the service. Mrs. C. M. Pritchard is chairman of Overlook unit.

A recent issue of Important Items, the official publication of the southwestern Red Cross, carried an item of interest to Tulsa in mention of the fact that Miss Blanche Ashton, a former young woman of this city and ex-employee of the Carter Oil company, had entered the service of that organization. Miss Ashton is in secretarial work in the bureau of personnel.

The Patriotic Comforts' committee, the war work unit of the Christian Science church, reports the shipment of the following refugee and knitted garments during the week: Twelve hundred and thirteen children's garments, 30 pair socks, four sweaters, four pair wristlets.

Practical Folks Are Giving Shoes

How would you like to receive a nice sturdy, neat-appearing pair of shoes?

Wouldn't you appreciate the thoughtful judgment that selected such a timely, practical present—a gift you could use every day?

And if you received shoes, wouldn't it please you for them to come from Akin's Booterie, the store known to carry but the very best?

No need to worry about style and fit. If you select the wrong style or number, it will be our pleasure to change them after the holidays.

Give useful gifts in war-time.
